

Sir John June 25th Oct 1870

My dear Sir, I have your note of 21st and your Trichophanes —

It is not the same with the Leptoceryx it differs from it in the form & length of the bill, in your bird the throat is decidedly white restricted to it, in ours it gradually fades in to the colour of the breast & belly which are yellowish — The long feathers covering the rump set back of the shoulder the tail, in yours the throat & feet are black in ours they are quite pale, I have been yellowish or flesh coloured —

It comes next nearest to a species from Java which I have named C. phaeocephalus Horsf. In this the legs are pale coloured —

My ~~petition~~ Mytelia is different from Bianconi, p. Hattleria — Bianconi's plate is enclosed but does not represent my bird at all — I believe this to be undescribed — When Prof. Newton was here I did not think of Bianconi's plate or Hattleria's description in Dechen or after a —

Your bird goes by this post —

You have not acknowledged the price of Marshall's Buccina what was sent to your address, p. o. ad —

Believe me very truly

I enclose my MS taken which I think you will find to be different from Bionumini's but — be what is better it is to me what you have said — it suits you down —
